

Introduction and Chapman Codes

This is an introduction to the List of All Resources produced by the Toronto Family History Centre (FHC) at Don Mills and Eglinton and updated every three months. It lists all of the more than 10,000 microfilm, microfiche, books and CDs that are available for use at the FHC at any time. It organizes the microfilm, microfiche, books and CDs by geographical area: first by a “region” and then within that region by the country, county/province/state, town and description of contents. The exception is the first “region” which is a general category for resources without a geographic area (for example, the book, Cyndi’s List), or for all genealogies of families (even those which have a specific geographic area in mind).

This report can only be read (and searched) by using Adobe Acrobat Reader. If you do not already have this program, double clicking on any pdf file will automatically access the internet to ask you if you wish to download the reader. This is a trusted and free program – please download.

Acrobat Reader has a little search bar in the top right hand corner where you can enter anything that you would like to search for. This could be a country, using the codes at the end of this introduction: e.g. DEU for Germany, IRL for Ireland or CAN for Canada. You may also wish to search for a town – these names have not been abbreviated but may be spelled slightly differently from what you are looking for. Be especially careful in the Eastern European countries as dashes, accents or Cyrillic translations could make a difference between finding a place or not. Also Eastern European countries may be listed under DEU, UKR, POL, HUN, or AUT; if you are researching here please check all countries as the changing boundaries in the 18th and 19th century make cataloging these films very difficult. You may search for a particular film or fiche number; this is straightforward unless you are looking for a fiche that is in the middle of a group of fiche. In this case, try searching for the first four numbers and then scrolling down through the document.

Chapman Codes are used in this file. Chapman Codes are standardized three-letter codes used by genealogists for countries and for counties in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland. For ease of use, they have also adopted the two character postal codes for the states in the United States and the provinces in Canada. Australia uses a mix of two and three characters for its states. Please look up the codes on the following pages of this introduction:
